

I urge you to resist pressure to loosen the regulations on media ownership. Altering the current regulations will only serve narrow private interests at the expense of the public interest. The FCC was established to help protect the public interest, and I hope you will take that responsibility seriously.